2024 Single Presenter Submission Guide: Posters, Research Spotlights, and Roundtable Unconferences

Presentation Types

There are three presentation types available for the later single presenter submission period due on September 14, 2023. You may only submit ONE submission to either the earlier submission period (Single presenter symposia OR Data Blitzes) or one of these listed below.

Posters (in-person only): Posters are the largest form of programming. Posters are grouped in sessions based on their keywords. All poster presenters will be required to submit a PDF of their poster electronically and an optional 5-minute video/audio recording. Submissions due by Sept 14, 2023

Research Spotlight (virtual only): These are recorded 2-minute on-demand video presentations. This will be offered for those that cannot attend in person but wish to share their research with attendees through the convention app before, during, and after the convention. Submissions due by September 14, 2023

Roundtable Unconference (in-person only): Pitch your ideas. Discuss lessons learned. Showcase best practices. Have a casual conversation about recent scientific issues. This format is ideal for someone who doesn't have data to present, but would like the opportunity to connect with colleagues and be included on the program. Roundtable unconferences are scheduled during two 70-minute sessions. There will be numbered tables in the room and you will be assigned a slot at a designated table. Attendees will be able to rotate among the tables to talk with all presenters. Submissions due by September 14, 2023

Before submitting, review the following:

1. Policies
2. Evaluation Process

Additional Information (not used as part of the peer review process)

☐ I understand that first/presenting authors may only submit for one single presenter submission. Should any first/presenting author be found noncompliant with this policy, all associated submissions will be disqualified.

☐ I understand that first/presenting authors must be SPSP members and registered meeting attendees to present. You are not required to be a member to submit.

☐ SPSP's Constellation Program honors a luminary figure in social and/or personality psychology. Check the box to indicate your presentation should include a "Constellation" tag. This year, SPSP honors Dan McAdams as the 2024 Constellation Program Honoree for his many contributions to our field. One of the unique features of the Constellation Program is that it allows presenters to self-identify their work as being part of the honoree's legacy. Common reasons to identify work as part of the Constellation Program include being connected to the honoree as a former student/postdoc/student of a student/etc., or relying on concepts, theories, and findings strongly associated with the honoree. We are asking submitters to identify this during the submission process so the digital program can include the "Constellation" tag alongside other keywords in order to enhance recognition of the honoree.

☐ If accepted, will you require accommodations for a disability to present? Examples of accommodations include, and are not limited to, type of microphone, ramp for stage access, rehearsal time, etc. (You will be contacted for more information after acceptance notifications.) Your response will only be visible to SPSP staff.
